Dear Exhibitors and Visitors,

Over the past years, business planning has posed one of the biggest challenges for every enterprise: in the shadow of the ongoing events around us, the economic recession and earlier the global pandemic, optimism and constant development were rare treasures. Here at HUNGEXPO, we have been able to work with these rare treasures, and we have the results to show for.

In line with the trend of the event market, which survived the crises relatively successfully and has produced a 30% growth since, we set out on a rising trajectory as well: live events gradually returned; we broke several records in 2023: AGROMashEXPO and Agrárgép (Agro machine) Show had their most successful turn of all time, and we hosted the European Academy of Neurology Congress, which was the largest in its category with nearly 6 thousand participants from 116 countries. We hosted OMÉK National Agriculture and Food Exhibition and Fair as well as Planet Budapest Sustainability Expo again.

However, there is one thing that is even more important for us than growth: the pandemic proved that the event industry is able to quickly respond to nearly all kinds of situations. The online world has seen an exponential growth, and our digital development projects were also implemented practically within weeks. This flexibility allowed us to retain the vast majority of our clients and survive the difficult period. Despite the pessimistic forecasts, live events have proven irreplaceable once again. As clear evidence of that, many of our events have sold out most of the exhibitor stands by mid-2023.

Hungexpo remains a key player in the Hungarian and European exhibition and conference market. We continue what we started: in addition to developing our own events, we can once again welcome the International Automobile and Tuning Show, the Wedding Exhibition, the Trade Star Festival, the Hungarian final of Bocuse d'Or, and we host many other global trade conferences.

We wish you success in your business, and we hope we can welcome you as many times as possible in 2024 at HUNGEXPO Budapest Congress and Exhibition Center.

Gábor Ganczer
Chief Executive Officer,
HUNGEXPO Ltd.
